Title: The use of a crossbow for shooting rough fish, by people holding a crossbow permit.

The Problem: The state law now reads that people having a crossbow permit must still use a regular bow, to harvest rough fish. Having a crossbow permit, usually means the person with that permit, has a disability that prevents him, or her, from being able to operate a regular bow. Therefore, it is rather difficult for the permit holder, to enjoy the sport of shooting rough fish with a bow.

Solution being proposed: I am proposing that it be made legal for any person, in possession of a crossbow permit, be allowed to harvest rough fish with a crossbow. They will be following all the same rules, as people using a regular bow, for harvesting rough fish. Therefore, people that used to enjoy harvesting rough fish with a regular bow, can enjoy harvesting them once again, with a crossbow.
