Spring Turkey Hunting Opportunity For New Hunters

New hunters that graduate from Hunter Education after the deadline to apply for a Spring Turkey permit must rely on over the counter sales for a chance to hunt turkeys in the spring. When the permits go on sale, several zones sell all of the left over tags within hours and the opportunity is missed if the new hunter is at school or work. Spring turkey hunting is an exciting hunting experience to get new hunters hooked on the sport of hunting.

BE IT RESOLVED, the Conservation Congress at its annual meeting held in Lincoln County on April 12, 2010 recommends that Department of Natural Resources take action to make the left over Spring Turkey Permits available for new hunters that graduate Hunter Education after the application deadline and before the left over permits go on sale to the general public.
