

Title: Raising public awareness, consciousness, stewardship, and reverence for WI natural resources

The Problem: The vast majority of WI citizens are rather uninformed or misinformed about the policies, practices, and priorities for WI natural resources... and often influenced by anger, fear, hurt, or lack. This leads to polarizations of people, places, and politics that paralyze and poison life (people, place, and planet).

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Dane County Conservation Congress on April 13th, 2015 recommends that the WI Conservation Congress works with the DNR to explore new ways to raise public awareness, consciousness, stewardship, and reverence for Wisconsin's natural resources...

toward win/win synergy between polarized people, places, and political parties...

while empowering and inspiring the powerless, alienated, disenfranchised, and disillusioned.

Author: Carl Landsness

Organization: None

Address: 413 Ring St.

City, state, zip: Madison, WI 53714

County: Dane

Phone: 608 395-7265