save the deer from all the predators when the deer population is very low, they dont seem to reproduce fast enough for most people. many factors can affect this. a high predator population as we now have over many parts of the state mean the deer can not recover soon enough for most steps should be taken county wide to kill more of the predators. wolves take a lot of blame, but coyotes, fishers, bobcats and bears eat fawns and adult also suggestions may include a bounty system or incentive to kill more coyotes. or more tags available for the tagged species like fisher, bobcat, and bears on a county by county system
