

Stream access with typical road right-of-way (ROW)

Please note: Road Right-of-Ways (ROW) may not always be 66' as measured from the center of the road. Sometimes the ROW is only the road prism itself, etc. Check with local or county units of government or the Department of Transportation (depending on the type of road: town, county or state highway) to determine the size of the ROW. The municipality that owns the road or easement may choose to discontinue access from the road or ROW. However, to do this, they would need DNR approval under the law to do so.
